

心理衛生流行病學

Mental Health Epidemiology

中文授課

授課教師

陳媯瑜、黃心苑、白雅美、莊宜芳、王先逸、陳嘉新

課程評量

Course grades will be evaluated on three domains: (1) in-class discussion (20%): active class participation; (2) analytic essay: on the readings of one lecture; (iii) Term paper: mid-term report 20%; final report: oral and written report (40%).

課程目標

This is a 2-credit course. This course is conducted mainly with both lectures, interactive discussion, and term paper. This course is intended to help students interested in the issues of mental health and psychiatric disorders from the perspectives of (i) historical evolution, (ii) research methodology, (iii) etiology and mechanism, and (iv) service delivery and financing.

主要探討議題

1. Global burden of mental disorders
2. Concept of mental disorders and history
3. Definition and classification of mental disorders
4. Research methodology in community
5. Mental health in special populations (e.g., children and elders)
6. Severe mental illness
7. Etiological: life course; genetics, neuroscience
8. Deinstitutionalization and stigma

